

VERY HUNGRY

THE DETERMINED POLITICIANS LONGING FOR THE OFFICE.

Who Will Control the Patronage—Langston Determined to Contest Venable's Election—Personal Notes.

Washington, Va., November 10, 1888. Little else of importance has transpired since the late election. The Republicans are disposed to most of the work over their party, but otherwise have been very quiet.

Independent of these respective claims to general patronage, the General Administration, and on this fact will hinge the character of the appointments that are to be made.

Langston is determined to contest Mr. Venable's election. He was one of the most active men in his efforts to secure the seat when it was vacant.

President Smith Replies to Senator Stables. [The reply has been held back for some time.]

Editor of the Dispatch. In your issue of the 10th inst. you published a letter from my friend Senator Stables to acknowledge my article in having said in a conversation with him that the act of our late Legislature appropriating $100,000 a year for the support of the University of Virginia was a mistake.

For that William and Mary was an Episcopal college when this bill was introduced, I think, he is charged with error and endeavor to get to the bottom of the matter.

WAR.
